Message from the President...

It's never too early to begin thinking about resolutions for the New Year, and two of the best surely would be spending more time with pleasant people and keeping our minds active. An easy and rewarding way to accomplish both goals is to participate in the Winterim 2004 session of Bradley University's ILR.

So resolve now to sign up for the classes which will be held January 6, 7, 8 and 9 at Michel Student Center and, in the case of Sue Manley's popular courses, at the Continuing Education Computer Lab. Then, vow to send in your registration form early and encourage your friends to do the same.

As all who have been there can attest, Winterim is a very special experience and a wonderful way to kick off any New Year. For 2004, co-chairs Peggy Carter and Gil Nolde and their committee have brought back several of our favorite instructors and recruited some exciting new ones to lead us on grand journeys of discovery and enlightenment. Subjects run the gamut from art, literature and music to science, history and health.

Meanwhile, here are some additional New Year's resolutions we hope you'll consider:

- Resolve to think about fitting ways to mark ILR's 10th anniversary next year and pass them on to current officers or past presidents, who are in charge of organizing the celebration.
- Resolve to nominate an ILR member or instructor you feel has made an exceptional contribution to the program. Next October, deserving nominees will be awarded ILR lapel pins in recognition of their loyalty, involvement and hard work.
- Lastly, resolve to continue answering the call for assistance when it comes your way. The smooth functioning of ILR depends in large part on the willingness of its members to share the burdens and the joys of volunteering.

Thank you all for your support, your cooperation and your enthusiasm, and we look forward to seeing you in class.

Carol Morrissey, President
